2005-2019: Palm Garden and Palm Garden Cottages

The Palm Garden in DeLand's Garden District was to include a loggia with shops surrounding a sunken botanical garden and 55 condominiums. This part of the project was cancelled during the Great Recession.

Palm Garden Cottages (partially shown on the south side of the illustration) was revived and permitted in 2017. Arth's Palm Garden Cottages LLC is the owner and designer, with the developer not yet determined.

Palm Garden Cottages is now permitted for 13 homes on a car-free pedestrian lane in the Garden District, DeLand, Florida.

Urban Design

- 1999: Proposed design for a new town (population 5,000) at Two Harbors, California, for the Santa Catalina Island Company.
- 1999: Proposed design for Paseo del Mar, a pedestrian community of three hundred dwelling units on the waterfront in Santa Barbara, CA. (see the newspaper article, “Envision a Pedestrian Community for Santa Barbara.” December 19, 1999.)
- 1999: Proposed design for Garden Village, a pedestrian-oriented community of 3,500 dwelling units to replace the defunct Robert Mueller Municipal Airport (RMMA), in Austin, Texas. Presented to the RMMA Advisory group and the ROMA design group as an alternative to the traditional neighborhood design previously under consideration.
- 2000-2008: Founding, design, and redevelopment of DeLand, Florida’s historic, pedestrian-oriented Garden District involving the renovation of 33 homes and businesses (26 buildings) concentrated in four city blocks. Also initiated the successful process to grant historic status to the Garden District.
- 2004: Preliminary Design and proposal for new town on 1,800 acres in Volusia County, for David Strawn.
- 2004-2008: Preliminary Design, proposal and consultation for Winona (New Town) on 900 acres, for EPBE Inc, and Intrinsic Groves Inc., Steve Strawn, president.
- 2005: Preliminary design for The Palm Garden, a mixed-use village center with 55 condominiums, 28 commercial flex units, a botanical garden, and underground parking. Planned Development was approved in 2006.

SUBURBAN DESIGN

NEW URBANISM

NEW PEDESTRIANISM

DETACHED HOMES IN A TRADITIONAL NEIGHBORHOOD WITH PEDESTRIAN LANES

TOWARD A NEW PEDESTRIANISM

This plan illustrates how a typical Pedestrian Community, with several pedestrian lanes in front and across its rear, can be established with a Traditional Neighborhood Character (TNC). The pedestrian lanes are at least 12 feet wide, and are typically paved with bricks or paving blocks. The easement is 20.00 feet wide with parallel parking allowed on both sides. The front street trees are spaced on more than 30 feet apart. Pedestrian lanes can also be integrated into any other new urban development in almost all applications. Site-specific changes would result in a more range of benefits and savings. This plan is for demonstration only. A wide variety of lot sizes, floorplans and styles are possible.

Garages: The garage (see examples 3 and 4) have one car garage and no more dwelling level above. All of the other houses are shown with no-car garages and a dwelling level above. In the case of examples 5 and 6 the area over the garage would be finished on top of the house, if desired. Apartments over the garages may be 1 or 1-1/2 stories.

Front Setback & Porch: The front setback is 15 ft with up to 8 ft of porch allowed for a porch. The front setback is 40 ft when the porch is set to the side (see plan and is typical front elevation). The minimum porch depth the first of a house, in all cases, is 6 ft.

Bicycle Lockers: Allow buildings include a conveniently located bicycle locker, as well as a bicycle rack. For every 1000 sq. ft. of living area, including the garage apartment, there is a space for one bicycle. The bicycle locker may be accessible from inside the garage, but may not intrude into the garage.

Roof-mounted Air: Units for detached houses are generally low rise, except for the side yard between two detached houses (see plan). The bicycle locker, as well as the garage and HVAC enclosure, may encroach into any applicable side yard setback, so long as the height does not exceed six feet. There, porches, and setbacks may also encroach into the side yard between a garage and garage unit. Units, awnings, or porches may encroach into the garage dwelling area the sidewalk up to 4 feet with a minimum 7-foot clearance above the sidewalk.

P = PORCH
G = GARAGE ENCLOSURE
B = BICYCLE LOCKER

1. Large Lot = 4500 square feet (45 x 90')
Main House = 2 to 2-1/2 stories, 2850-3100 sq. ft., plus front porch.
In dry area, the garage apartment has its own separate porch. One bicycle locker is adjacent to the garage and another one, serving the main house, is located near the front porch.
2. Large Lot = 4500 square feet (45 x 90')
Main House = 2 stories, 2088 square feet, plus front and rear porches.
The bicycle locker is in close proximity to the sidewalk and is accessible to the sidewalk.
3. College Corner Lot = 2835 sq. ft. (45' x 45')
Garage = 1-1/2 to 2 stories, 1,300 to 1,800 sq. ft., single garage.
4. College, same size as example 3. The corner location of the garage allows vehicles access to both. Because of the side street, the setback into the street is larger than they are.
5. Large Corner Lot = 4050 sq. ft. (45 x 90')
Main House = 2 to 2-1/2 stories, 3,130-3,800 sq. ft., plus front and rear porches.
6. Standard Lot = 3600 sq. ft. (45 x 80')
Main House = 2 stories, with side garden.
7. Narrow Lot = 3,200 sq. ft. (20 x 90')
Main House = 2 stories, 1488 sq. ft.
As shown, the driveway to the garage unit can also directly access the pedestrian lane and is not over the setback line.
8. Standard Lot = 2400 sq. ft. (40 x 60')
Main House = 2 stories, 2160 sq. ft.
The side garden and garage enclosure is located under the building to the "alley" lot and faces a side pedestrian lane.

Pardon me for gushing, but every town in this county needs a Michael Arth.
 - Mike Lafferty, Orlando Sentinel

Arth's a visionary. His dedicated efforts... represent a triumph of will over adversity.
 - Daytona News Journal

Before After

On a sweltering day in August 2001, a stranger appeared in a crime-ridden Florida neighborhood known as "Cracktown." Armed only with big ideas and determination, artist/urban designer/developer Michael E. Arth saved this slum from a date with the wrecking ball. Reborn as The Garden District, it is now a living laboratory demonstrating Michael's New Pedestrianism, an ecological and pedestrian-friendly vision for new towns and neighborhoods.

Take a trip into the wild frontier of real estate in this inspiring and educational documentary that answers the question, "What can one person do about the world's problems?"

Michael E. Arth is fixin' the Earth one town at a time!

"We've been shortchanged on the change!"

In 2009, two years before the Occupy Wall Street protests began, urban designer and policy analyst Michael E. Arth decided to take on the one percenters. While traversing the length and breadth of Florida on a bicycle, he found out that running for higher office within the corrupt American political system is like wrestling a tornado, both literally and figuratively.

"There likely would not be a United States without Tom Paine. There is a new Paine among us, and his message is one of reform, not revolution....The time has come for a more perfect union."
 - Columnist William C. Hall

"Michael E. Arth is a hero for the people...a true, modern-day David against the Goliath..."

 DVD

GOV'NOR

A MAN ON A BICYCLE, WITH NO MONEY, TAKES ON THE FAT CATS, DIRTY POLITICS (AND HIS WIFE) TO RUN FOR GOVERNOR OF FLORIDA

A REAL-LIFE HORROR STORY WITH A REALIZABLE SOLUTION

"Dirty Dave" Grimsley is a pint-sized blend of Randle McMurphy in "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" and George Clooney's Ulysses Everett McGill in "O Brother Where Art Thou." Also known as "Dammit Man" and "Tom Sawyer" because of his profane hecksterism, Dave is a hard-drinking leprechaun with the gift of gab, a heart of gold and not a pot to piss in. He runs a homeless camp while waiting for local authorities in Volusia County, FL to donate public land for Tiger Bay Village, a community of services for adults who fall through the cracks.

"I'm a small potato but I'm hard to peel," Dave brags after being set upon by machete-wielding thugs suspected of killing transients. His girlfriend Allyson is a former beauty queen who was a nurse before substance abuse and outdoor living took its toll. With grim humor, laughter and tears, Vodka Scott, Two-Beer Billy, Dino the Dinosaur, Hopalong and their friends will take you to a place you have never been, even though it already exists in the woods nearby.

PUBLIC SERVICE

- Public Policy: In the mid-1990s I began to change focus away from art and architecture toward urban planning and policy analysis as a way to leverage my talents toward public service. This led to various articles, four documentary films, a published book (Democracy and the Common Wealth) and a forthcoming book and 13 part docuseries, The Labors of Hercules: Modern Solutions to 12 Herculean Problems. The future portion of my forthcoming memoir, The Time Traveler: An Artist's Quest Through the Past and Future (1953-2053), will address societal problems and show my evolution from a focus on personal development toward policy reform. Politics also began to play a role as a necessary tool to bring important issues into public awareness.
- The Garden District: In the process of rebuilding a drug slum into “The Garden District” (2001-2008), I spent time doing community service work, employing ex-cons, and helping those with substance abuse issues.
- Homelessness: After substantially finishing the Garden District in 2006, I worked on adult homeless issues. This included founding Villages for the Homeless, an organization devoted to developing a lower cost, efficient, consolidated, humane alternative to the current approaches to the problem that involves building a holistic, transformational campus of services. (A similar solution, Haven for Hope in San Antonio, opened in 2010.) The village would help those with mental disabilities who are now housed in prison or living outside as the chronically homeless. It would also help those homeless adults with substance issues who need a healing period of time away from conditions that negatively impact the cycle of addiction. (Haven for Hope reduced the number of homeless living downtown by 80% between 2010 and 2017.)
- Tiger Bay Village to First Step Shelter: I frequently meet with the homeless and those doing work on behalf of the homeless to come up with alternative and complementary solutions to the current approach across the country. VillagesfortheHomeless.org has a link to my documentary film, Out of the Woods: Life and Death in Dirty Dave's Homeless Camp, which documents four years of life in a homeless camp. The film was done to bring attention to the plight of the adult homeless and emphasize how a community-type solution would be preferable to a scattered, piecemeal approach. I wanted to build Tiger Bay Village, which would have fully realized the concept. A much scaled-down version, First Step Shelter, is finally being built, but there exists the possibility of an expanded role in the future.
- Community Activism: As a cyclist seeking car-free alternatives, I sought to develop bicycle and pedestrian trails, working with local leaders to improve the urban fabric whether through urban design, solutions for homelessness, or through policy changes.
- Planning: I participated in “visioning” workshops, and other planning-related meetings to help formulate comprehensive plans or resolve issues in the community.
- Florida Gubernatorial Candidate 2009-2010: I ran a full-fledged campaign for 18 months, including an 800-mile bicycle trip the length and breadth of the state. I met thousands of people, attended and gave speeches at many dozens of events or rallies, and gave radio and TV interviews. For more information read the book, Democracy and the Common Wealth and watch the 2010 documentary

here. Also read “Where I’m Coming From and Where I am Now: From Conservative Catholic to Humanist Social Democrat.”

- United States Democratic Presidential Candidate, May 2018-November 2019. See archival site of the campaign at <http://www.michaelarth.org>.
- Electoral Reform: Without electoral reform we cannot begin to remove the dominance of special interests, elect suitable leaders, or improve our democracy. The U.S. is now categorized as a “flawed democracy,” ranked in 25th place in the 2018 Economist Intelligent Unit’s Democracy Index. Instead of being number one in incarceration, we should be number one in democracy. When I ran for governor I put special emphasis on this issue because it is fundamental to bringing reform to all other issues. I was also a member of FLIER (Florida Initiative for Electoral Reform) and delivered speeches on behalf of the organization. I wrote an article on Ranked Majority Voting for FLIER’s 2010 white paper, Resuscitating Democracy.
- Projects, articles, presentations and books about artificial intelligence, LOGOSwiki.org, and the UNICE Global Brain Project: I began developing UNICE (Universal Network of Intelligence Conscious Entities) as a website in 2007. In 2015 I launched the UNICE global brain project at www.UNICEwiki.org, followed by LOGOSwiki.org in 2017. The founding articles and initial topics can be accessed at these sites. The seed for LOGOS was my 1970 unpublished novel, Jockey Tramshire Heddge, which included the prediction that a knowledge explosion will be “our Savior, our lifeline out of ignorance” and also “our executioner.” The concern that runaway artificial intelligence, or bad players misusing A.I., could create great harm still informs my concerns about the future. LOGOS, combined with information technology, could allow us to bring the greatest good to the greatest number, in the most efficient manner possible, to this and future generations. This should be the goal of politics, and it is my goal as well.
